Dear Members and Friends of ITI, dear Readers

Pre-Announcements and short-term Announcements – this and much more you can find in this Newsletter.

It is with great pleasure that we can announce the "Special Connecting Event" of the ITI/UNESCO Network for Higher Education in the Performing Arts to all those who are interested in theatre and performing arts education – as well as any students and emerging artists. Members of Higher Education and Research Institutions will present themselves, and additionally, the General Secretariat and Board of the ITI/UNESCO Network will present four dialogues, each with an outstanding artist, moderated by students and open to students and educators.

More information you are finding below and in the next ITI Newsletter.

Save the date of the Special Connecting Event – 13 to 17 December 2021.

With very best regards,
The Team of the General Secretariat of ITI
The October Edition of the "UNESCO Tracker Culture & Public Policy" #13: Culture and City

What is The Tracker? The monthly Tracker is produced by UNESCO to monitor culture in public policy with regards to the UN Sustainable Development Agenda. It highlights developments within national and regional contexts, as well as emerging debates on culture's contribution to sustainable development. Drawing on a variety of sources, it provides a broad overview of cultural policy trends worldwide at the national, regional and international level and looks at ways in which countries integrate culture into other policy areas.

Cities are a privileged ground for the exercise and recognition or cultural diversity, a critical endeavor in increasingly fragmented societies. Cities are also laboratories to harness culture to nurture societies' resilience and well being and underpin environmental sustainability.

Cutting Edge this month explores the evolution of policies conducted by cities to maximise the power of urban heritage and creativity in addressing contemporary economic, social and urban challenges.

Cultural Policy Highlights contains the latest cultural policy innovations from around the world, including related to sustainable cities, whilst the Regional Perspectives section includes updates on regional processes.

The Culture in the Agenda 2030 rubric covers how Member States' urban policies and culture are linked in Voluntary National Reviews, along with an introduction to the new UNESCO-led Interagency Platform on Culture for Sustainable Development.

UNITED NATIONS

#Faith4Rights Toolkit
The United Nations have created a Toolkit called “Faith for Rights” that is of interest not only for those who work in the field of Human Rights but also for artists, namely performing artists. This toolkit builds on a wealth of comparable tools by several UN agencies that have been integrated into the #Faith4Rights toolkit. It also illustrates artistic expressions as learning tools and offers built-in links to relevant resources faith actors would need. The annex proposes several cases to debate, which illustrate the intersectionality of the 18 commitments and enhance the skills of faith actors to manage religious diversity in real-life situations towards the shared aims of “Faith for Rights”.

For any enquiries, please send an email to: faith4rights@ohchr.org

>>The Toolkit can be downloaded by clicking here.

“Is it true that you always wait for me?”
The Newsletter congratulates Andromachi Dimitriadou Lindahl and Asomates
Dynameis for having their production "Is it true that you always wait for me?" that tells the story of a Jewish community of Thessaloniki (Andromachi’s hometown) is cited as an excellent example for implementing dance in Faith for Rights.

French Centre of ITI

Institut International du Théâtre
Organisation Mondiale pour les Arts de la Scène
Les Lyriades
de la langue française
The French Centre of ITI in partnership with the Lyriades association, invite playwrights and writers from all countries to participate in a theatrical writing competition on the theme: "Writing, humanism and cultural diversity".

Inspired by the life and work of Joachim Du Bellay, the authors will have to propose, in a theatrical form, a production evoking themes as diverse as exile, language as a tool for intercultural connection, the relationships between languages, language barriers and their consequences, the weight of language in social integration. The texts will be chosen by a jury whose members will be selected by the organizers and partners on the sidelines of the event around the 500th anniversary of the birth of Joachim Du Bellay.

Prizes:
1. Depending on the quality and relevance of the contributions received, the jury will select 1 to 3 proposals ranked from 1 to 3.
2. The winning text will be published on the institution's website www.iti-worldwide.org.
3. Other publications may be considered in agreement with the author.
4. The adaptation of the text into a play may be created in agreement with the author.

The deadline for receipt of applications is 20 March 2022.

All applications must be sent to the e-mail address: contact@iti-france.eu with the subject line: Competition Joachim Du Bellay 2022.

Organized by the Slovenian Centre of ITI, during The Week of Slovenian Drama
Time: Thursday, 11 November, at 15h00, Paris Time

The challenges of the pandemic have affected the work of artists. The long period when the world came to a standstill put obstacles in front of everyone. Although working conditions have changed and there is fewer so-called "familiar", this does not mean that the creative role of art has disappeared. Many unknown opportunities arose and became a challenge. This phenomenon is considered to be a colourful diversity all over the world.

In an open dialogue, the new contexts that artists create every day will be discussed, regardless of the location of their presence. Has this very reality influenced the role of women in art and society, and what challenges do women face as creators of change and the new order? The participants of the round table will tell how they cope with the creative and production process and other constraints.

We will listen to the life stories of:

Achiro Patricia Olwoch (Uganda)

Ximena Carrera (Chile)

Dessa Quesada-Palm (Philippines)

Melodie Reynolds-Diarra (Australia)

The Slovenian representative will also join the list of names.

The live event will can be watched over Zoom, and on-site, live on-ite in the Škrlovec Tower, Škrlovec 3, in Kranj, Slovenia, on 11 November, at 15h00, Paris time.

Host/Moderator: Tatjana Ažman, dramaturge, Head of the Slovenian Centre of ITI, Member of the Executive Council of ITI worldwide.
Co-Hosts: August Melody Andong, President Women Playwrights International & Rosemary Johns, Vice-President Women Playwrights International

More information: tatjana.azman@opera.si or over the website of the Event. For accessing the website, please click here.
During the first four days event the Members of the Network will present themselves and their activities. After each day’s presentation a notable performing artist is presenting a video and is in dialogue with students and educators. During the last day, there will be break-out sessions on different themes.

The Event is conceived as an event for its members. Any students and educators who are interested in the presentations and the dialogue with the artists can watch the event over Facebook. The Event allows also special guests to participate. Please get in touch with the Secretariat, for more information or the possibilities to register as one of the special guests: secretariat@iti-unesco-network.org (The number is limited.)

Save the date! The detailed programme will be released soon.

The Hong Kong Academy for Performing Arts

The Future of Performing Arts Education Webinar No.6 — Interdisciplinarity
Thursday 4 November 2021, 5:00 pm (Hon Kong Time) / 11h00 am (Paris Time)

Interdisciplinarity has become a buzz word in higher education. There’s a strong tradition of performing artists collaborating, more recently outside of the arts as well as with each other. But are these collaborations interdisciplinary? What differentiates cross-art and interdisciplinary collaboration? Why does it matter that we train artists to be interdisciplinary practitioners? The Hong Kong Academy for Performing Arts will discuss the relevance of interdisciplinary practice for performing artists and arts education.

Speakers
• James Andean, Senior Lecturer in Music, Technology and Innovation, De Montfort University
• Ger Post, Teaching Specialist, University of Melbourne
• Elissa Rosati, Head of Screen Production and Research Centre from the School of Film and Television, Hong Kong Academy for Performing Arts

Theatre Diplomacy During the Cold War – Volume 1 to 5
This multi-volume work began as a biography of Martha Coigney, who was a served as President of the International Theatre Institute (ITI) from 1987-1995 and afterwards became an Honorary President of ITI. (…)

ITI was consistently in the vanguard of UNESCO's multi-lateral aim to bring all voices to the table, including former colonial peoples, developing nations, and indigenous cultures. In partnership with Rosamond Gilder and Ellen Stewart of La Mama E.T.C., Martha Coigney led these landmark initiatives, including the representation of U.S. multicultural theatre leadership in Moscow in 1973. What was set in motion then is playing out today.

Owing to the scope of Martha Coigney's work, William Wadsworth and Jim O'Quinn interviewed a wide range of her dramatist friends and professional colleagues. These conversations illuminated a liberal cultural epoch (1954-86) and the U. S. Culture Wars that followed. The authors also recovered substantive original materials from Lincoln Center Performing Arts Library and the Rockefeller Archives about the life and work of Coigney, her mentor Rosamond Gilder, and Coigney's long-time employer, the producer Roger Stevens.” (Book Description)

For all those who are interested in the History of ITI, and the development of ITI, this multi-volume work is a must to read. It is available:

- over the website of the publisher XLIBRIS
- over Amazon.com

As the book is not inexpensive, you also may download an ebook for a reasonable price over the stores of Kindle Amazon, Apple Books or Google Play Books.

Jim O’Quinn, Founding Editor of American Theatre Magazine, Dies at 74

This is what World Theatre Ambassador Philip Arnoult from the USA wrote to us:

"Friends,

The American Theatre lost an important voice last week: Jim O’Quinn. This was a deep personal loss for me, and for many in his wide circle of friends and colleagues. I
Jim became a fellow-traveller with me and CITD. As a founding editor, he fought for a more international presence in AMERICAN THEATRE. He travelled with us multiple times to Poland, Russia, Hungary and other Eastern & Central European festivals and gatherings.

In 2012, when CITD did a four-city tour for Russian theatre leaders to Baltimore, San Francisco, Austin and New Orleans, (BEYOND THE CAPITALS) Jim went back home and was the host of our week in NOLA. How he loved that city, and sharing that love and his friends with Russians from Perm, Yekaterinburg, St. Petersburg, and Omsk.

Our last project together was Jim collaborating on Martha Coigney’s biography with Will Wadsworth. What started out three years ago as a single book is now a just-published, five volume history, Jim was working with Will Wadsworth right till the end.

TCG’s Rob-Weinert Kent wrote the first obituary for Jim O’Quinn. >>You may read the article that was published in the American Theatre Magazine by clicking here.

Peace,
Philip Arnoult “
