ITI Newsletter

Editorial

Dear Members and Friends of ITI, dear Readers

In this edition of the ITI Newsletter, you find an announcement of the new Theatre Record editor and New Website from the UK Centre of ITI, and also one online theatre training course from the World Theatre Training Institute AKT-ZENT/ITI, member of ITI/UNESCO Network for Higher Education in the Performing Arts.

It is with sadness that we need to announce to you that a great friend of ITI, Hans-Thies Lehmann passed away in July in Athens. You can find more information at the end of the Newsletter.

With very best regards,

The Team of the General Secretariat of ITI

Theatre Record

and even faster website

The new website will continue to include all of the Record's existing content features – its archive of more than forty years' unabridged reviews, casts, credits and production photographs for all major UK productions, its unrivalled UK-wide listings of press nights – as well as some exciting improvements to make theatrerecord.com an even more invaluable and easy to use resource, updated daily. Where the printed Record carried only reviews from printed media, the website now includes an ever-growing number of digital reviews. The new features include:

- New digital format
- Improved, faster search engine
- Marker for unread reviews
- List of the latest productions (rolling by issue)
- Separate West End & Scotland listings of shows current and coming, with box office and press contacts.
- New subscription system with easy online payments

Let Alison tell you more:

"We have enhanced some areas, including improving the search engine, so from the launch of the new website you can search for any cast or creative within a production. We have also added a marker which shows you when a new review has been added since you last logged on, so you never miss a review. The main page shows the latest month of productions, linking to their details and reviews. All the productions are posted according to press night before being put into the archive, adding to the 40+ years of material which you can easily search." Click here to read more.

Quantum Training for Theatre - Online qualification programme for teachers

From 16 October 2022 to 26 March 2023

The Artistic Director of the World Theatre Training Institute, Dr Jurij Alschitz, is inaugurating a high quality training programme for theatre educators worldwide, and art. Teaching becomes a creative act and the teacher an artist. The programme consists of 22 weekly online live sessions including training by the Institute's teaching team.

The participants themselves are taught according to the principles of quantum pedagogy with a holistic concept of theatre. They will learn different methods such as The Art of Assignment | Training as Method | Directing Rules for the Theatre Educator | Reverse Perspective Method | Method of Explosion with the perspective of developing their own school and becoming a master themselves.

A training certificate will be awarded by the World Institute for Theatre Education AKT-ZENT | Research Centre of the International Theatre Institute.

Obituary

In Memoriam | Hans-Thies Lehmann (1944 - 2022)

Hans-Thies Lehmann (1944 - 2022) died in Athens on Saturday 16 July. The German theatre scholar influenced the performing arts in theory and practice especially with his work "Postdramatic Theatre". The book is considered as a standard work and has been translated into more than twenty languages. He was also co-founder of the Giessen Institute for Applied Theatre Studies. The theatre world mourns the loss of one of the most important and influential theorists of our time.
